The 36,000 square feet reflection pool at the centre creates a blue oasis. The 202 spacious guest rooms and suites offer panoramic views of the reflection pools and gardens. All rooms have views of water bodies or lush greens and adorn the timelessness of traditional Indian craftsmanship. The central glass pavillion or the 'jewel box' houses the lobby on the fifth floor, with spectacular views of the water body.

There are very few places where this rare and enigmatic big cat can still be glimpsed in the wild, stalking through dense forest and undergrowth, a solitary predator with no natural enemies, save one. India has 25 tiger reserves, located in national parks across the country and the highest density of tigers in the world. The elusive Royal Bengal Tiger is the national animal of India, although sadly now an endangered species, with around 1400 still in the wild. Your chances of spotting tiger are dependent upon the time of year, the size of the park and its tiger population. Bandhavgarh, Ranthambhore and Kanha National Park are prime tiger conservation areas and offer the best opportunities for a sighting.
